SAINT JAMES HIGH SCHOOL

The Centennial Anniversary of the Sisters of Charity

1859

Two Sisters take time out from a busy day for a moment of prayer at the shrine to Our Lady of Fatima, Convent Station.

1959

Holy Family Chapel and Administration Building, Convent Station, New Jersey.

A Sister of Charity poses with her young pupils in the Virgin Islands.

A familiar picture, a Sister of Charity in one of the many schools staffed by her order.

Exactly 100 years ago, in 1859, Mother Mary Xavier Mehegan, at the request of the Most Reverend James Roosevelt Bayley, founded the Sisters of Charity. Through these many years the Sisters have engaged in various types of charitable work, and today they are a true symbol of love, charity, and the Christian way of life. They serve in hospitals, orphanages, homes for the aged, homes for incurably ill patients, homes for working girls, grammar and high schools, The College of Saint Elizabeth, and four overseas missions for which only volunteers are selected.

The Sisters of Charity prepare their students carefully for life by giving them high ideals and encouraging them to make the most of each opportunity for success. In their training they inculcate knowledge of both God and the world which He created. Those pupils who do not grasp the work as quickly as the others receive special attention from Sister who is always ready to help, to encourage, and to console.

The Community has members serving in New Jersey, New York, Connecticut, Massachusetts, Florida, the Virgin Islands, and in Puerto Rico. The foreign missions included, until recently, China.

Today, the Sisters of Charity continue to serve God and man. They ask few favors yet bestow them constantly and abundantly to all those in need. Truly, the Sisters of Charity have lived up to their name and have become an organization in which God and His teachings exist fully and endlessly.

DEUS ET CARITAS

DEDICATION

With highest admiration and overwhelming esteem, we of the Class of "59" make this humble dedication to an everlasting symbol of charity, goodness, and righteousness, Sister Anne Magdalene.

Her superiority and unsurpassed ability in teaching us through these unforgettable and most precious years will leave a permanent mark upon both our hearts and our characters. Her help was gladly given, her advice was wisely given, and she was to us a gift, God given. She was a Sister to all of us in the true meaning of the word. As long as we of the Class of "59" shall live upon this earth, we will always carry her imprint, her memory, and the principles which she set forth in her teaching. We are her products, and we are following in her footsteps; no greater honor could be bestowed upon us.

She dedicated herself to us, and we, with tears in our eyes and sorrow in our hearts, say good-bye, and with gratitude and love, we the Class of "59" dedicate this yearbook to our Senior Moderator, Sister Anne Magdalene.

APPRECIATION

To Sister Elaine Marie

An appreciation which stems from the very depths of our hearts we, the Senior Class of "59", extend to Sister Elaine Marie, our Principal. Her guidance and understanding during our four years at Saint James High School have helped us exceedingly to become better Christian men and women. She is a living tribute to her vocation and her order.

May God give her the strength and guidance to continue to bestow upon others, the magnificent, and heart-warming gift that she bestowed upon us.

To Our Parents

To our parents there really exist no words which can express our thanks. For all they have done for us is innumerable and incomprehensible. They sacrificed and put all the facilities which God gave them to help us obtain an above average and complete education.

For this only God can reward. We, mere humans, being limited in expressing such supreme gratitude, can only say simply and deeply, thanks and may God bless and keep you.

CLASS HISTORY

As Freshmen we were filled with wonders and joys,
Yet we were still little children playing with toys.
The four years we were to spend looked like an eternity,
And we wondered when we would ever
Seniors be.

When Sophomores we became; happy and thrilled to be so,
We were getting a little older, but we really didn't know,
Still carefree and laughing all the time,
But we began to realize our future was in studying and not in nursery rhymes.

When Juniors we became, we were stunned and astonished,
Not believing that two years we had accomplished.
The year was hard and long and books became a must,
For our slogan now became "Senior or bust."

As Seniors we didn't know what to do or to say,
We seemed always in a dizzy way.
But our Senior year was the best, with a melancholy air
And forever will our memories linger there.

MEMORIES

"Love one another with fraternal charity, anticipating one another with honor."

(Romans 12, 9-19)

Discussing their coming dance are Dolores Czarnik, Carol Broderick, Miss Burke, Dolores Dangelit, and Assunta Giordano.

Making up typing after school are: Rose Ann Malgeri, Argentinia Otina, Beverly Bloom, Margaret Marion.

"Watch out, curves ahead," is the warning given to shorthand students: Daniel Ur, Jean Mohren, Kathleen Ryan, Marie Pagano, Theresa Ruggiero, and Annette Leo.

Leading 11A are: Christine Russo, Secretary; Colette Sauriol, Vice President; Eileen Clines, President and Joan Pallen, Treasurer.

The Big Four of 11B consists of: Joseph Alves, Vice President; Joseph McKenna, President; Josephine Giordano, Treasurer; and Virginia Lennon, Secretary.

It's me
Louie!
Hello!

? Aquí se habla Español? Joanne Iacona, Lucille Ryan, Catherine McNair, Lillian Malloy, and Anastasia Maneri.

SOPHOMORES

"Can we make it before the bell rings?" say Annette Cantena, Mary Ellen MacAvay, Helen Plante, Gladys Kozlowski, and Robert Traylor.

Miss Mellor proves the necessity of straight lines in book-keeping. As the class looks on, Marie Stefanelli demonstrates what she has just learned.

Testing the Machine Age are: Martin Booth, Helen Clarkson, Pat Jordon, Elizabeth Ciallella, and Carol Ann Adams.

Keeping up with current happenings are: Lois Bloom, Anne McKeown, Ralph Paoella, and Pat Erskine.

Watching Mother Nature adorn Our Lady are: Michele Farrant, Elizabeth Helbig, Thomas Casgrove, Elaine Hopler, and Catherine Flannery.

Looks as if Book Reports can be fun from the expressions on the faces of Pat Farrell, Janet Davis, Ella McNally, and Brian Klotz.

"Mister Dillon" takes aim at the bulletin board. Looking on are: Barbara Decker, Joseph La-Polla, and Gemma Ammiano.

"It must be in here somewhere," says Joanna Giordano to James Deck, Mary Ann Reilly, and Judith Golden.

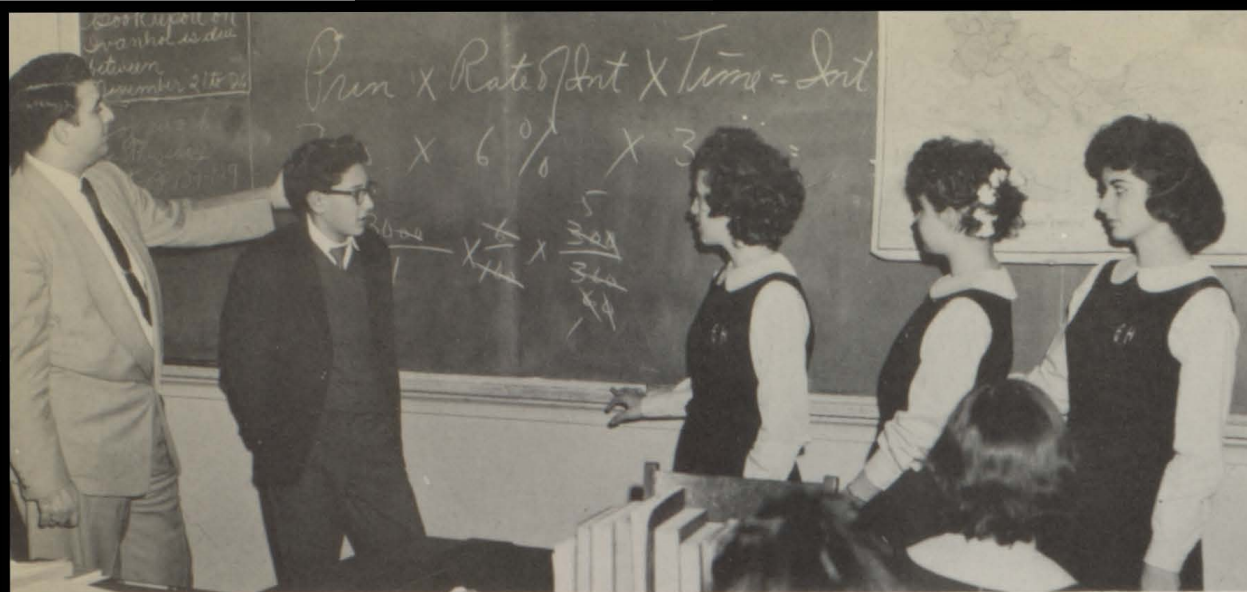

"The Last Bell." Maria Mariborski, Thomas Tansey, Lenora Russo, John O'Connor, Gloria Iannelli, Elaine Young.

"What! No homework," Jeanette Orlando, Lois Bloom, Joseph La Polla, and Charles Sprowl seem to be saying.

"It can't be that difficult, can it?" says Mr. Napoli to Michael Bevilacqua, Joanne Iorio, Eleanor Garilis, and Maryann Alvino.

"Holy Mother guide us," pray Carol Somer, Anne Nelson, Ann Marie Morris, Anthony Devino, Margaret Powers, Janet Senatore, and Richard Paul.

It must be Friday from the smiles on the faces of: JoAnn Senatore, Joseph Kowalski, Lillian Weissmann, and Harry Van Houten.

Carol McLaughlen, Lucille Impossimato, Daniel Hopper, and Margaret Fitzsimmons seem to be enjoying their reading.

"The Lunch Time Lineup" shows Mrs. McGrath ready to help Michael Batty, Richard Diaz, Roseanne La Medica, Mary Gerstner, Caroline

Dominic Tamburino, Anthony Morris, Patricia Murphy, Patricia Passumato, Mary Ann Smanski, Catherine Norton, Joan Nappi, Maureen O'Regan, Lorraine Masciola, and Miss Wandell go around the world in 80 days.

"Please give us a study period, Mr. Napoli," say Mary Duffy, Marie Hudock, Raymond Garrity, Thomas Schwab, Arlene Gottlick, Catherine Hughes, and Rose Ann La Medica.

Mr. Napoli instructs the scientists of tomorrow, including: Robert Ferrara, Kevin Haran, Judy Bassano, Sharon Grello, Catherine Jacoby, Tina Barroquero.

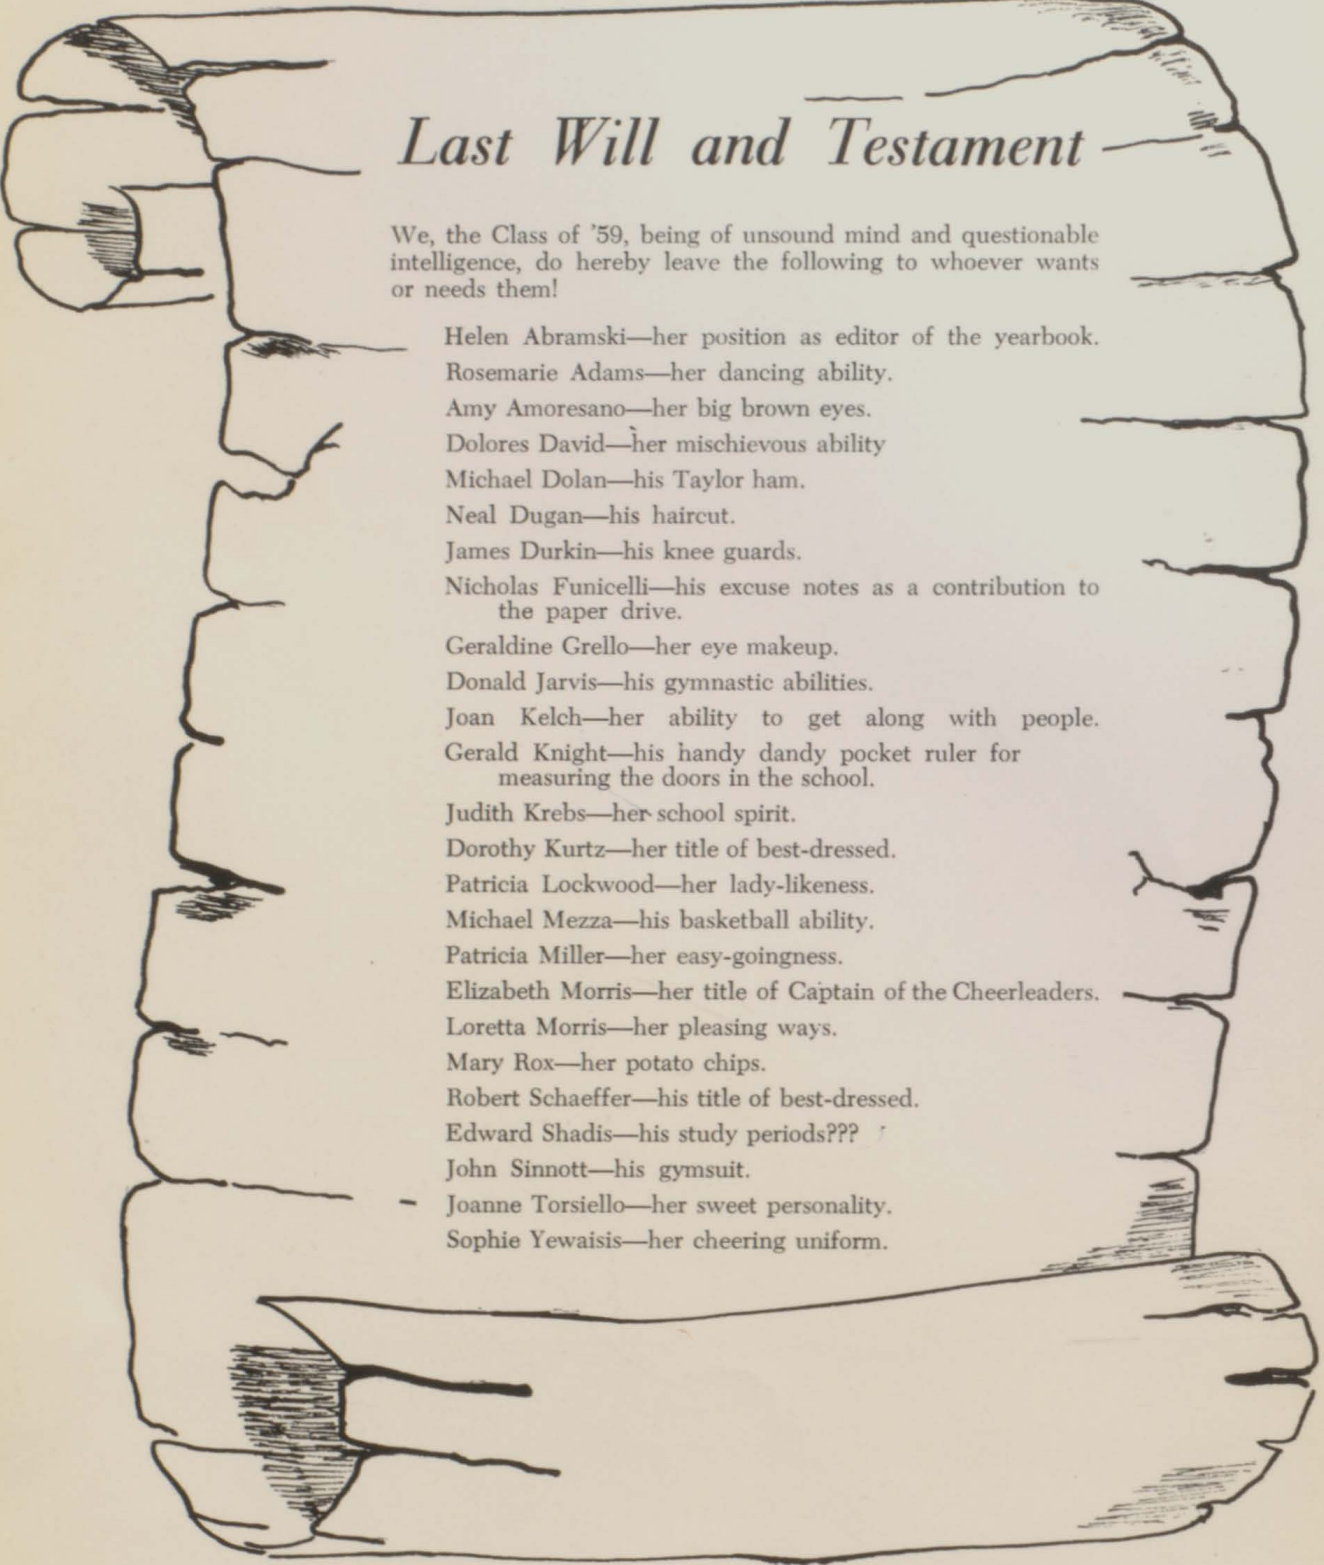

Miss Wandell proves it's a small world to: Joyce Tulimiero, Catherine Shear, Frances Ferraro, William Tansey, Robert Ryan, Frances Young.

Miss Wandell seems to be enjoying a moment of golden silence in the library with Lucille Imposimato, Rose Marie Mancinelli, Daniel Hopler, Michael Batty, Mary Duffy, Richard Diaz, and Catherine Jacoby.

Heilmann, Michael Traylor, Charles McCrea, Elaine Liput, Rosemarie Mancinelli, Catherine Hughes, and Susan Miller.

ACTIVITIES

Initiation Day

Early in the year the seniors informally welcome the freshmen to St. James. The ceremony is known as initiation day. From the picture, it's hard to tell who is having the most fun, the seniors or the freshmen.

On Monday afternoon, the third floor becomes a place of song and music. The Schola and Glee Club practice throughout the year, under the direction of Mrs. Julia Fiorita for the annual Music Demonstration Day held in the spring.

FINALE

Class Prophecy

The Story of the Class of "'59" in "'70". (We're only kidding.)

In the secretarial line there will be dependable Helen, who will be working with hammer and nails making cases for Perry Mason.

Old Faithful Rosemarie will still be burning leather trying to find a job.

Amy will finally have convinced Father Mannion to let her become that Dear Abby's Assistant.

Dee will be ardently working trying to save enough money to buy Colyiers.

Geraldine will still be selling Lip-Lickin-Lemon Cough Drops in order to get Dick Clark to give her a lifetime pass to American Bandstand.

Joan will have an eerie job working as chief mischief maker on Shock Theatre with Zacherley.

Judy Krebs will be a devoted beachcomber continually looking for Tommy Sands.

Bob and Dot will be fighting for either the Donkey or the Elephant ticket in order to be the next president.

Pat Miller will still be working on an electric device that will make her champion bowler.

Pat L. will be riding a donkey for transportation to a dance at West Point.

Betty will still be buying stretch socks in order to make her look taller.

Loretta will be receiving congratulations on her graduation.

Mary Rox will be living in her mansion married to the millionaire's assistant.

Joanne will have a house full of Oscars given to her for Academy Awards.

Judy W. will be living in Alaska—thus having her wish of a lifetime supply of Ice Pops.

Sophie will own her dyeing factory, and will rapidly be dyeing all juicy Fruits green.

Mike D., alias, "The Playboy", will be making all his money how???!!!!

Neal, his friend, will also still be working for that first million.

Jim D., will have learned his curves and lines by now and will be solemnly teaching steno to all his tudents.

Nick F., will still have a sign on his typewriter reading, "Help Wanted."

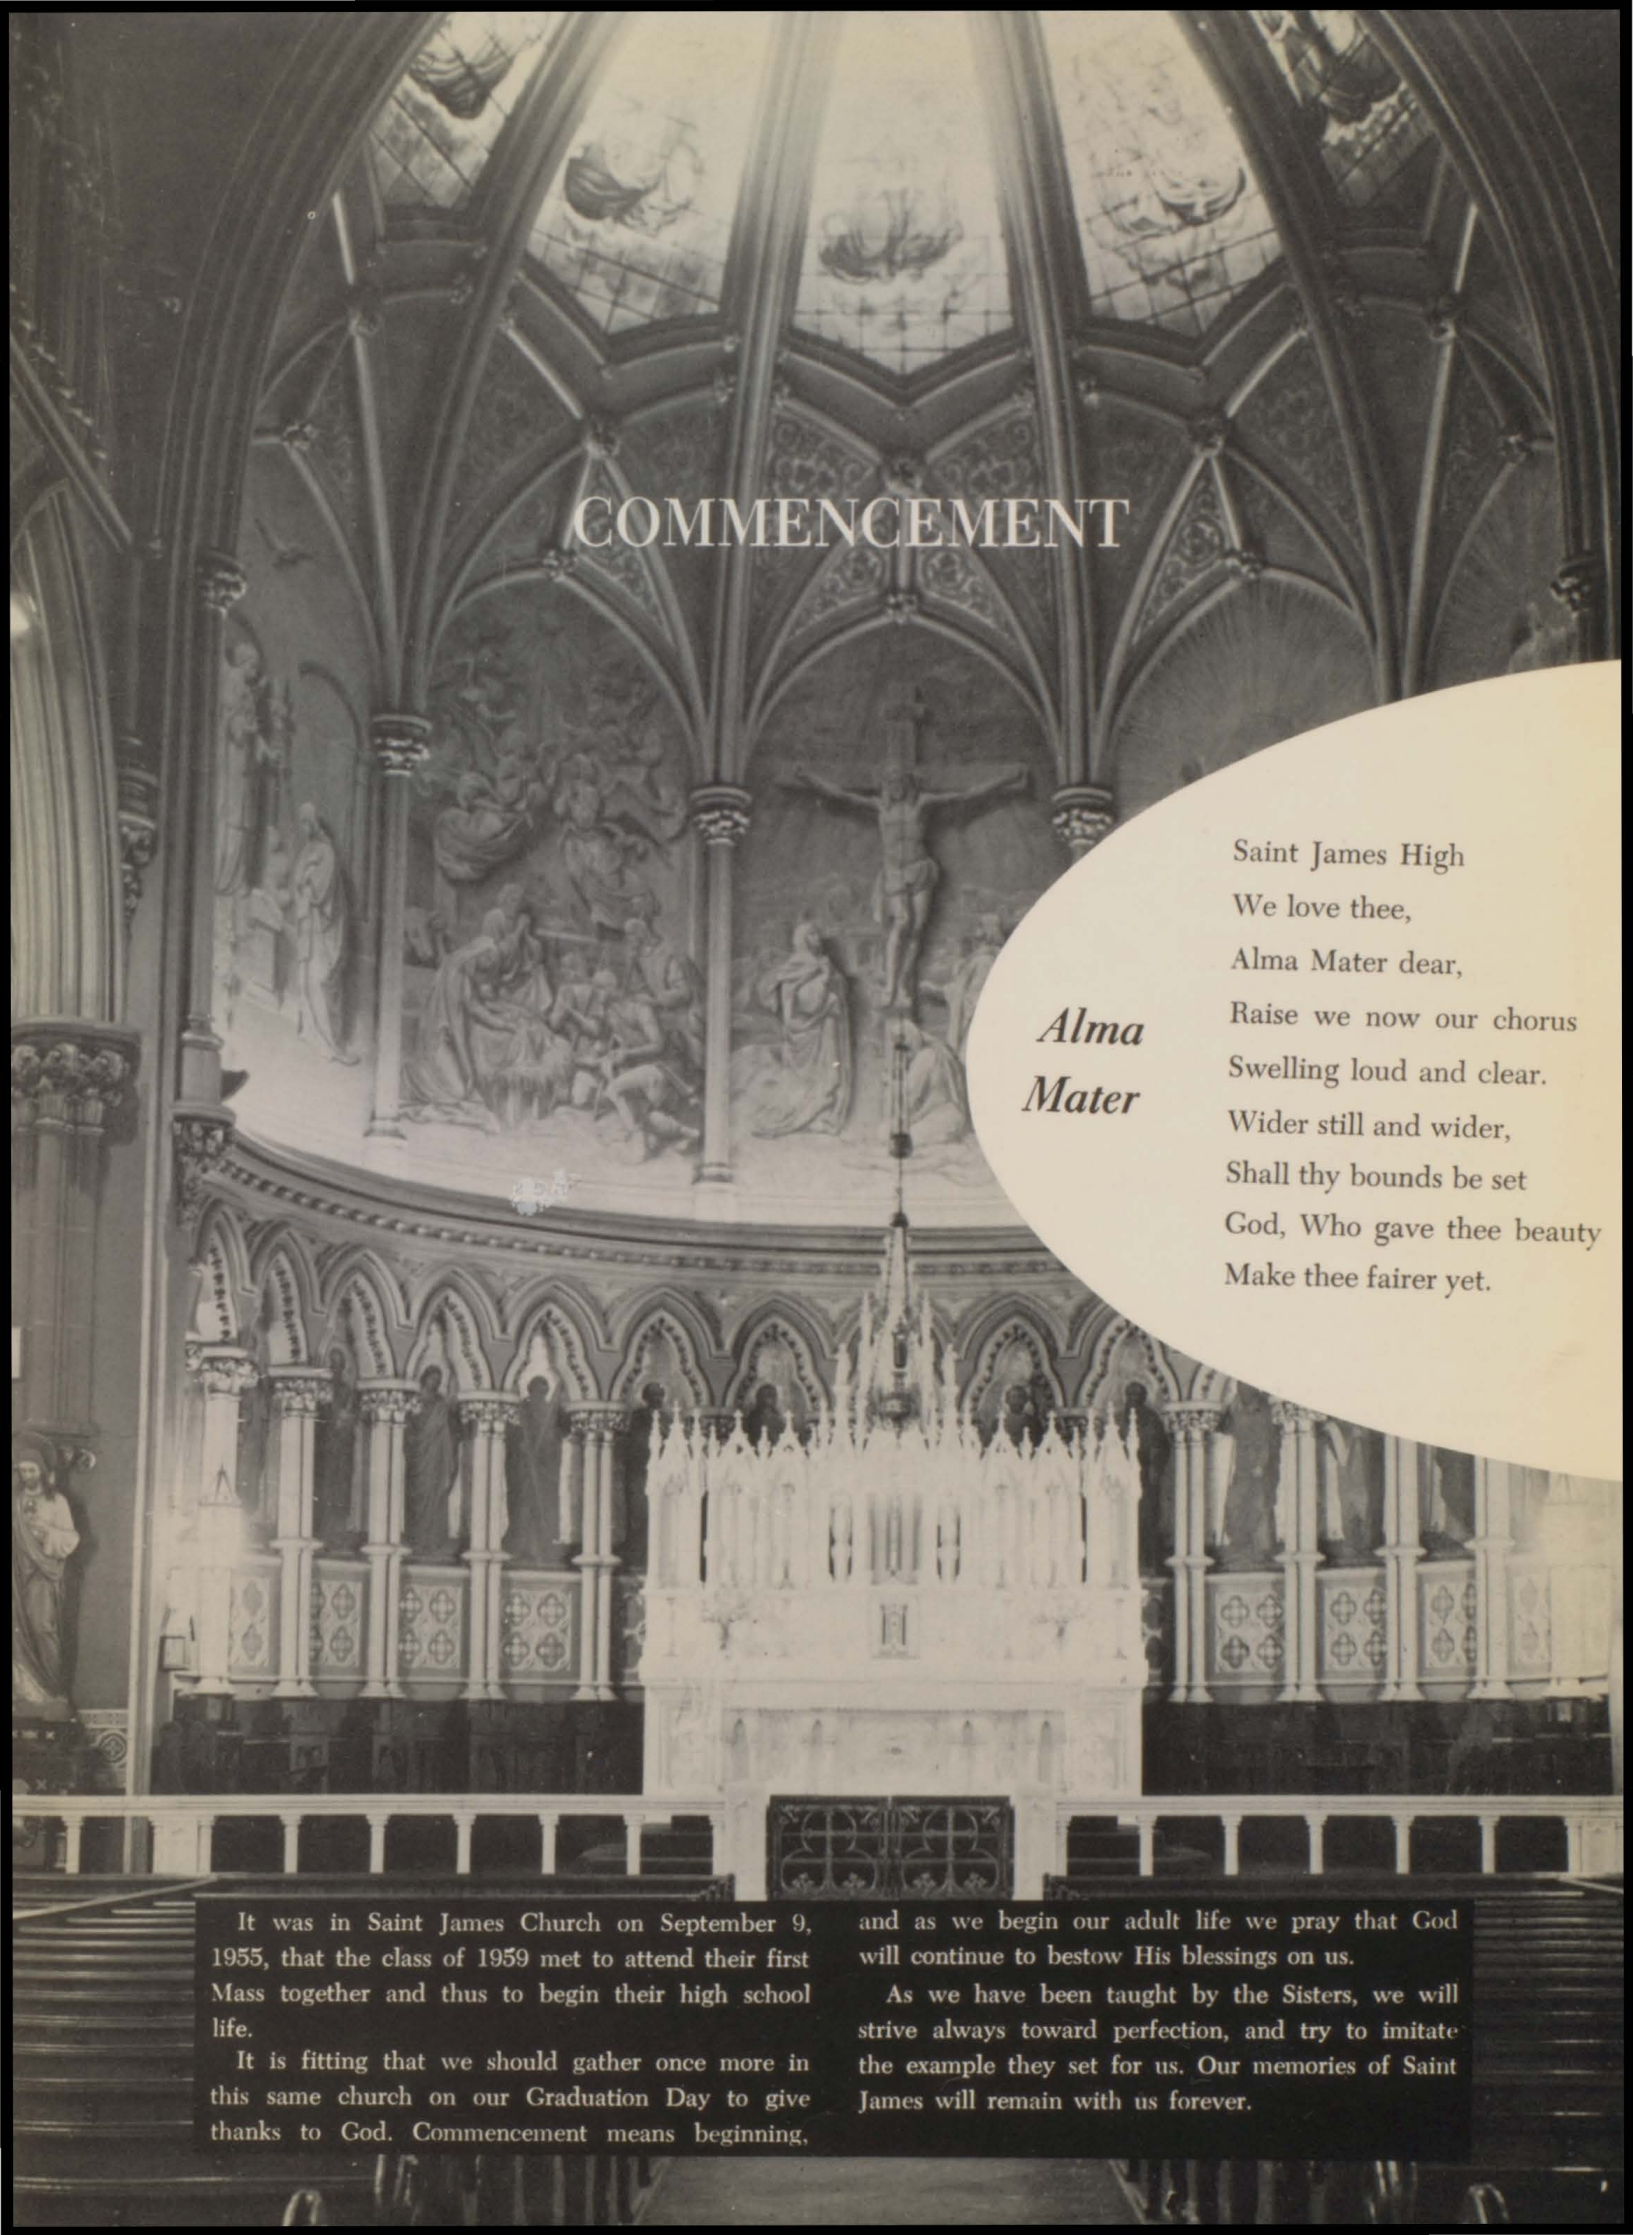

Donald will graduate with a sweep to become Hiram 2nd. He says he likes the school too much to leave.

Gerald K. will have a perforated thumb from what???!!!!

Mike M. will be living Jules Vernes' story of 20,000 Leagues Beneath The Sea.

Edward Shadis will continually be phoning Mary Rox to help him inherit his million dollars.

John Sinnott will be covering events at the Olympics, in his job as a sports writer.

COMMENCEMENT

Alma Mater

Saint James High
We love thee,
Alma Mater dear,
Raise we now our chorus
Swelling loud and clear.
Wider still and wider,
Shall thy bounds be set
God, Who gave thee beauty
Make thee fairer yet.

It was in Saint James Church on September 9, 1955, that the class of 1959 met to attend their first Mass together and thus to begin their high school life.

It is fitting that we should gather once more in this same church on our Graduation Day to give thanks to God. Commencement means beginning, and as we begin our adult life we pray that God will continue to bestow His blessings on us.

As we have been taught by the Sisters, we will strive always toward perfection, and try to imitate the example they set for us. Our memories of Saint James will remain with us forever.
